Lima will host the Tenth International Congress of Person Centered Medicine

On December 16 and 17 of this year, the Tenth International Congress and Eighth Latin American Conference on Person-Centered Medicine will be held in the city of Lima, Peru, which will be held through face-to-face and virtual modalities.

This important event is organized by the International College of Person Centered Medicine, the Latin American Network of Person Centered Medicine, and the Peruvian Association of Faculties of Medicine (ASPEFAM), and will have as its central theme the "Integral and Mutual Care of Persons-centered Total Health", which will be addressed by prominent national and international speakers and panelists.

During the two days of work of the congress, four symposia will be presented on clinical care, medical education, scientific research, and public health aimed at the well-being of all persons; as well as brief international presentations, as well as three forums that will promote people-centered total health from the perspectives of community empowerment, intersectoral coordination, and Latin American integration. A cultural program will complement the academic activities.

The face-to-face component of the program will be held in the Central Auditorium of the headquarters of the Peruvian Association of Faculties of Medicine (ASPEFAM), in Lima, which will be complemented in real time with an online component from various Latin American countries and multiple continents. The opening ceremony will offer greetings from the authorities of the International College and the Latin American Network of Person-Centered Medicine and the representatives of the different institutions that support the event.

The Tenth Congress and Eighth Latin American Conference on Person -Centered Medicine has the collaboration of the Pan American Health Organization, the Andean Health Organization, the Latin American Association of National Academies of Medicine, the National Academy of Medicine of Peru, the Peruvian Association of Person Centered Medicine, and San Marcos National University.
